

H. van Londen, M.S.M. Kok, A. Marciniak (eds.), 2009. E-learning Archaeology, Theory and Practice. Themata 3, University of Amsterdam: Amsterdam.

Table of contents

Arkadiusz Marciniak, Introduction

Mark Pluciennik, Education and e-learning in archaeology: teaching materials in a virtual world

Arkadiusz Marciniak, E-learning in archaeological heritage. An example of ‘Archaeological heritage in contemporary Europe’ a distance learning course

Jacek Marciniak, Methodology and e-learning solutions in “Archaeological heritage in contemporary Europe” a distance learning course

Andris Šnē, Evaluation of the course ‘Archaeological heritage in contemporary Europe’: survey of students' questionnaires

Katarzyna Marciniak & Agnieszka Chwieduk, Knowledge is just a “click” away! Evaluation of e-learning course ‘Archaeological heritage in contemporary Europe’ among Polish participants

Anders Gustafsson & Håkan Karlsson, Democratic Dialogues in Cyberspace. Experiences from two distance learning courses in archaeology and cultural heritage at the Department of Historical Studies, University of Gothenburg

Monique van Dries, Review on e-archaeology, the e-learning application on archaeological heritage management in contemporary Europe

Marjolijn Kok, Teaching by distance learning or face to face: the differences between direct and distance teaching

Alvaro Arrizabalaga, Maria José Iriarte & Rosa Martínez, Arkeonet: An e-learning pilot programme in science and technology applied to archaeology

Kenneth Aitchison, Archaeology and Construction Engineering Skills: developing e-learning for two sectors

François Bertemes & Peter F. Biehl, The past in the future: E-Learning, multimedia and archaeological heritage in the digital age